BIRDS-EYE VIEW OF NARRAGANSETT PIER, R. I

NARRAGANSETT PIER is beautifully situated in the extreme Southern portion of the State of Rhode Island, and on the Atlantic Ocean, at the entrance of Narragansett Bay. Its climate is cool and dry; perfect freedom from malaria, and mosquitoes unknown. Is easy of access by both railroad and boat. It is located at the terminus of the NARRAGANSETT PIER RAILROAD, connecting at Kingston (eight miles) with the New York, Providence and Boston Railroad, which forms a part of the favorably known "Shore Line" route between New York and Boston.

FROM NEW YORK.— Passengers by rail leave from Grand Central Station, and have the advantage of through Boston Express Trains of the "Shore Line" between New York and Kingston. All trains of this popular line have as their distinguishing qualities powerful locomotives, passenger coaches of the most proved construction, and a service as near perfect as any railroad in the world. The dining cars, Wagner parlor rs and sleeping cars give the traveler and tourist the most perfect comfort and ease during the entire journey. he time of express trains between New York and NARRAGANSETT PIER is only five hours. During the summer season, addition to the New York and Boston trains, a special fast NARRAGANSETT PIER EXPRESS TRAIN takes passengers in egant drawing room cars direct to the "PIER" without change at Kingston.

Passengers by steamer leave New York via Stonington Line from New Pier 36, North River, at five P. M. ily (except Sunday), arrive the following morning. Express train with free reclining chair cars are run between onington and NARRAGANSETT PIER without change.

The Pier of the Stonington Line is within a short distance of the rries of Southern and Western Lines, thus making an easy transfer from lines through the city of New York. Excursion tickets are sold from New ork and principal points in the South and West, baggage checked through. ate rooms can be secured in advance, and information obtained by dressing Ticket Agent, Stonington Line, New Pier 36, North River, N. Y.

FROM BOSTON.—Trains leave Park Square Station of Old Colony ilroad, and run direct to Kingston without change. Drawing room cars all through trains.

FROM WORCESTER.—Connections are made with Boston and Albany, tchburg and Boston and Maine Railroads from all points North and West.

FROM HARTFORD and points on New York, New Haven and Hartford ilroad, from Palmer, Willimantic, and points on New London Northern ilroad and New York and New England Railroad, direct connections are de at New London with New York, Providence and Boston Railroad.

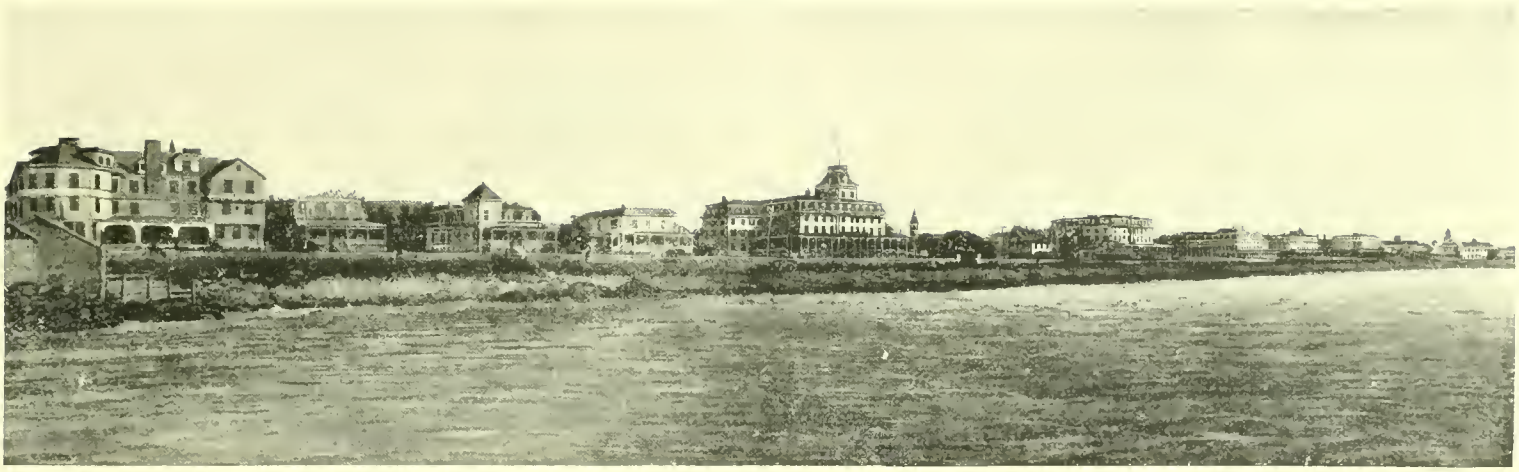
NARRAGANSETT 25 YEARS AGO.



OCEAN AVENUE, FROM BOAT LANDING TO CASINO.

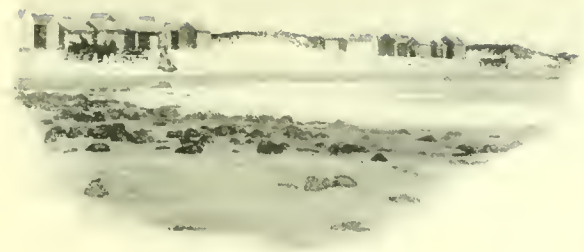
NARRAGANSETT PIER covers a territory stretching along the shore for several miles to the North and South. Its compacted part, however, covers an area of about one and a half miles long and about half a mile wide, abounding in numerous well-kept hotels, which are fully described in these pages.

The town has just completed a most perfect system of sewerage, elaborated by our most eminent engineers.

THE natural advantages of NARRAGANSETT PIER are unequaled in New England. Its beautiful scenery and magnificent bathing beach; its gigantic cliffs; its drives and walks; boating, fishing and gunning, all combine to make this one of the most, if not the most, attractive resorts on the Atlantic coast. We will attempt to lay briefly before you a rude outline of some of these advantages:

It has a most perfect system of water-works, supplied with unquestionable Spring water some five miles nt, which, besides giving us a bountiful supply of pure water, furnishes most perfect fire protection, having ressure sufficient to carry a stream over the highest structure.

The entire town is lighted by electricity, as are also the adjoining villages of Wakefield and Peace-, by the Thompson and Houston system of arc-lighting, while the hotels and residences are lighted by ndescent lamps of the same system. This company has only been in the field of electric lighting since , yet at the present time there are of its system ninety-five thousand arc and over four hundred thousand ndescent lamps in operation in various parts of the country.



THE BEACH 25 YEARS AGO.

DURING the summer, stores and markets of all kinds abound. One can purchase almost any article desired, at prices reasonable as in any of our large cities. Many branches of business will be more fully described.

The PIER has a daily paper during the summer months, which keeps its readers well informed of all the news, such as hotel arrivals, the hops, theatricals, gossip, etc. THE DAILY TIMES will begin its eleventh season about the twenty-fifth of June. It is published at the office of THE NARRAGANSETT TIMES at Wakefield, which has a branch office at the PIER during the summer, for job printing and the sale of stationery. It also has THE HERALD, which is published weekly, giving its readers full proceedings of NARRAGANSETT life.

An Exchange Bank, branch of the Wakefield Trust Company, is open for business the year round.

Nearly all the streets are McAdamed and curbed with broad asphalt walks, extending in every direction about town, and for miles into the surrounding country are beautiful graded Telford roads. Some of the drives we will hereafter attempt to describe.

The Beach

PROBABLY is entitled to rank first in attraction. Imagine a beautiful crescent-shaped beach, stretching for more than a mile, with its silvery sands glistening in the summer sun, descending gradually to the waters' edge.

The Beach is lined with commodious bathing apartments, many which are supplied with hot sea water shower baths, etc.

This is the morning attraction, where everybody goes to see and be seen. Thousands go to take a) in the briny deep, the surf of which is all the bather can desire. The breakers come rolling in in rapid ccession, with sufficient force for exhileration to the bather. So safe is the beach, that neither life-boat or es are required.

THE BEACH AT BATHING HOUR

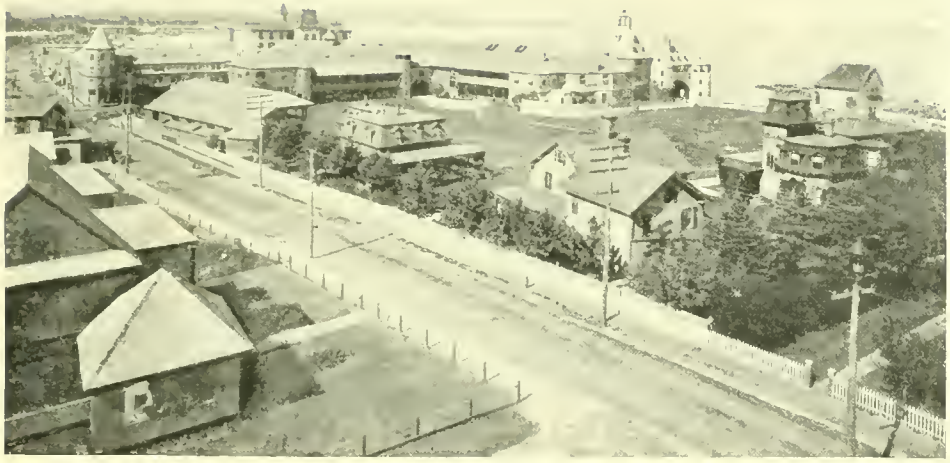
THE next centre of attraction is the CASINO, where all assemble for a morning chat, and arrange matters of pleasure, drives, parties, etc. This is a magnificent structure, built by a stock company, at a cost of more than one hundred thousand dollars, is situated immediately on the ore, and directly opposite the entrance to the beach. rom its porches, an unobstructed view of the broad ean is obtained.

A VIEW OF CASINO.

The building is conveniently arranged, containing large restaurant, private dining rooms, large billiard ll, reception rooms, large and spacious theatre, which is used for dancing, where hops are held regularly, ednesday and Saturday evenings, also private hops, almost every evening in midsummer, which are festive casions.

Lander's orchestra furnishes music, and gives concerts on the broad porches, during the day and evening.

The lawns are beautifully laid out with tennis courts, which are unsurpassed. There are also adjoining, owling alleys and a shooting gallery.



CASINO COTTAGES

THE RESTAURANT is under the management of JAEGER, of Madison Avenue and 59th Street, New York.

Mr. Jaeger is a Manufacturer of Ices, Confectionery, etc., at Narragansett; he supplies cottagers and hotels extensively, and furnishes refreshments for private receptions and entertainments, almost exclusively.

THERE are also three cottages connected, immediately overlooking the grounds, which are to rent for the season.

YACHT LANDING AND OLD BREAKWATER

HOPEWELL COTTAGE

METATOXET COTTAGE.

LEAVING this point we stroll down Ocean Avenue towards the Cliffs, we first pass the summer home of Dr. Charles Hitchcock, a physician of New York City. Next and adjoining, is the residence of B. McE. Emmet, M. D., a popular physician of New York, who summers here.

We would also show here, connection, Matatoxet tage, the summer resi- ce of Dr. St. Clair Smith, lomœopathic physician of known prominence.

RESIDENCE OF B McE. EMMET, M D

These physicians, with Dr. Thomas Buckler, of Baltimore, and Dr. Horace Wilcox, our resident physician, are the practicing physicians during the summer.

GOING on down the avenue, passing numerous hotels and cottages, we soon reach the cliffs; passing the cottage and studio of R. Wilhelm, a prominent photographer of Madison Avenue, corner 59th Street, New York City, who summers at Narragansett.

SUNSET ROCK.

NEXT of importance is the famous Indian Rock, with all its grandeur, which, if permitted, could tell the tale of many a fond proposal; this being a favorite resort of lovers for an afternoon stroll in midsummer, to listen to the soft lullaby of the waves.

WE soon reach the Cliffs, the banks of which are lined with residences as far as the eye can reach. Having reached Sunset Rock, we pause to notice the grandeur of old ocean beating its water upon the rock-bound shores, while the gentle breeze waft its zephyrs seaward.

INDIAN ROCK

WHIMSY COT.

ROCKHURST.

ON the cliffs we first come to the summer residences of Hon. Rowland Hazard; Howard Lapsley, a well-known banker of New York; J. Aspenwall Hodge, of Hartford; Samuel Colgate, of Orange, N. J., and Edward Austen, of Glencoe, Md.

OVERCLIFF.

They are located among the cottage residents, and most of them directly on a high bluff on the Atlantic Ocean, with rock frontage and no obstruction between them and the sea.

THESE Cottages are the best in location, furniture, sanitary appliances, &c., of any, for rental at the PIER.

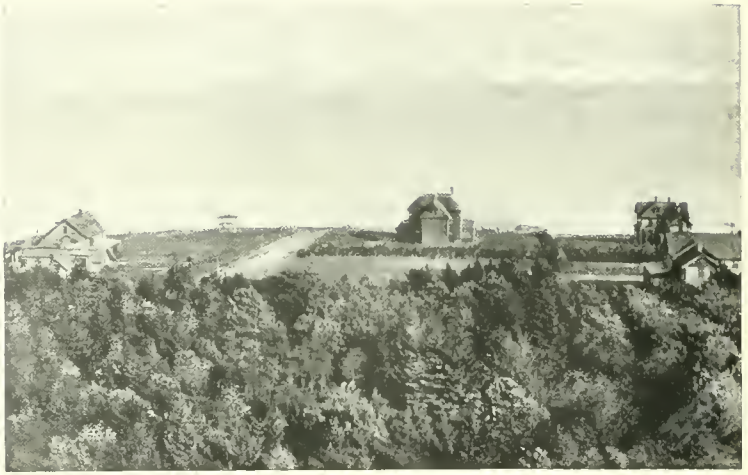
ANCHORAGE.

FAIRLAWN.

Apply to Box 307, New York Post Office, or to all Real Estate Agents at NARRAGANSETT PIER.

They have ample stable accommodations, electric lights, hot and cold water, bath rooms, laundries, &c. Furniture is of hard wood, simple but appropriate. Rentals from $1,000 to $2,000 for the season.

GARDENCOURT.



STARTING out for a drive, we would first take the Ocean drive to Point Judith, a distance of about five miles, most of the way over a fine graded Telford road, lined on either side with beautiful summer residences, most of which ve will illustrate in passing. After leaving the compacted art of the town, in the rear of the cliffs, we pass the Old Castle, property of R. N. HAZARD, of New York on the right, and on the left is a group of cottages, among which are the very pretty summer homes of Rev. W. R. BABCOCK, of New York, Miss OLIVER, of Baltimore, and the late FRANCIS WHARTON, D.D.

RESIDENCE OF R. G. DUN, OF NEW YORK.

SANFORD'S ROCK LEDGE.

ON the rocks are numerous fishing stands bolted to the cliffs, where the summer visitors enjoy bass fishing and often land a fish weighing upward of fifty pounds. Below we show a view.

NEXT and adjoining Dunmere is the beautiful residence of E. Harrison Sanford, of New York.

The shore at this point is bold and rocky, affording beautiful scenery.

Property of Mrs. N. K. Bishop, of Providence, R. I.

LEAVING the Cottages, we continue down Ocean Road in full view of the broad Atlantic; following the shore along until we reach Point Judith Light House and Life Saving Station, where we alight and are escorted over Uncle Sam's property by its genial keeper, who is always ready to entertain visitors.

POINT JUDITH—EAST.

TAKING a stroll on the shore amongst the rocks, and remains of numerous wrecks, which are frequent here, (Point Judith having long been a dread of the mariner), all at once we notice before us the rock known as the Old Man's Face.

THE OLD MAN'S FACE

POINT JUDITH WEST.

STARTING back, we take what is known as the Old Road to Point Judith, now beautifully graded and MacAdamed, lined on either side with fine farms, and beautiful scenery. To the right is the Ocean; on the left is the beautiful sheet of water, known as Salt Pond (or Point Judith Pond), which is filled with islands, with a rolling, woody country in the distance, renders the scenery magnificent.

AT the entrance of this beautiful lake, the Government has just made an appropriation for a harbor of refuge. Between the waters of the lake and the ocean are thousands of acres of marsh lands which abound in summer game, rendering great sport for the gunner.

The waters of the lake extend to within bout one mile of the centre of NARRAGANSETT, and ill at no distant day be a resort for yachts, thus dding an attraction to the PIER.

Leaving Point Judith now in the distance, still in iew of old ocean on the right, and the beautiful scenery f the lake on the left, we soon find ourselves nearly ome, losing sight of the ocean only to view the beautiful olling land of the surrounding country. Soon we find urselves back to our comfortable quarters at our Hotel.

ANOTHER very pleasant drive is in the opposite direction through Boston Neck, passing in the rear of the Bathing Beach, leaving the mansion of Ex-Governor Sprague on the left, who is now a permanent resident of NARRAGANSETT. Opposite and on the Beach are the cottages of Col. Wheaten and C. F. Washburn, of Worcester, Mass.; just beyond is the cosy cottage of E. P. Slevin, of New Jersey.

THE DUNES.

MANSION OF EX GOV. SPRAGUE.

THE BARNACLE.

LEAVING Narragansett now in the distance, driving through a beautiful shaded country, we soon pass the very pretty country seat of W. S. Chapin, of Albany, N. Y.

RESIDENCE OF J. C. TUCKER, JR.

NEEDWOOD.

NEARLY opposite is the residence of J. C. Tucker, Jr., of Narragansett Pier; from this point we get here and there charming views of the bay, with Newport in the distance, and Dutch Island Harbor, and many other points of interest, and on the left glimpses of the Petaquamscott River, which adds to the scenery.

AT the head of this river is the celebrated birth place of GILBERT STEWART, the American poet. Crossing here, passing the old landmark mentioned, climbing the rugged hill, we soon come to the old post road which takes us back to Narragansett.

THE GLEBE

BIRTH PLACE OF GILBERT STEWART.

KEEPING us most of the time in view of the ocean on the left, though several miles distant, with beautiful rocky woodland on the right; and as the sun is waning on a summer's afternoon, renders the scenery delightful. At the foot of the hill is another historical place known as the GLEBE, a century ago being the residence of Rev. Dr. MCSPARRON.

IN this section, also, is the historic rock on which the Petaquamscott tribe of Indians signed the declaration, releasing their right to this section. Below we show the rock. Passing on, we find ourselves nearing home, by the Tower Hill House and Cottages, down the hill to the Pier; declaring that a more enjoyable drive would be impossible.

HISTORICAL ROCK

WE WILL not annoy you with a description of the drive to Matoonoc beach, a distance of eight miles, over a fine graded Telford road, which abounds in beautiful scenery, through the village of Wakefield, passing the country home of the Rev. Edward Everett Hale, D. D., of Boston, Mass.

VIEW OF LAKE WORDEN

RESIDENCE OF REV. E. EVERETT HALE, D. D

ANOTHER pleasant drive is to Lake Worden; also the drive to Kingston (Little Rest), through the villages of Peace Dale and Rocky Brook.

PUMPING STATION OF THE WAKEFIELD WATER CO.

ARRIVING here we may return by a number of ways, each being equally pleasant and the scenery rural and grand.

THIS building is the result of an effort to produce a hostelry, promising some of the creature comforts so commonly found in the smaller hotels of England, and which the great caravansaries lining our coast are the farthest possible from furnishing. In addition to being a delightful summer resort, Narragansett Pier, like Newport, has a mild

NARRAGANSETT STABLES

NARRAGANSETT STABLES will comfortably accommodate 75 horses; the largest boarding stables at the Pier. Our boarders have the free use of the stables, affording the coachmen all the conveniences that they enjoy at home. Elegant landaus, party wagons, etc. Our aim is to keep the finest livery teams at the Pier. Owing to the number of horses passing through our hands, we are enabled to select those entirely suited to our livery business, and can offer a choice such as cannot be found elsewhere.

IT is impossible to give a full description and illustration of NARRAGANSETT PIER in these pages. It would require volumes. One must spend a summer here to fully realize its beauties and attractions. When once a season is passed at NARRAGANSETT, one is sure to be so charmed with its beauties that he will long for the summer to return with its flowers, when he can return for rest and pleasure to this charming spot. One may search the coast from Maine to Florida in vain to find a more charming resort. Its climate, its scenery, all combine to give NARRAGANSETT PIER unequaled advantages.
